

GRANDE PRAIRIE, THE LAND OF AGRICULTURAL PROMISE

An Unbiased Statement of Facts Concerning This Country.

Small Fruits in Profusion

Entire Area Fertile and Well Watered—Rapidly Filling Up.

Bulletin Staff Correspondence.

Grande Prairie, Alta.—The first correspondence has come from the town of Edmonton and the annual celebration and sports of the settlement of Grande Prairie, where the Bulletin's staff correspondent has been for a few weeks while on a tour of the Peace River district. This article purports giving a few general observations, while a subsequent article will tell in detail what the actual settlers have done and propose to do in developing this fertile Alberta's bordering, over a hundred miles northward and about two hundred miles to the westward of Edmonton.

It is not the purpose to unduly boost this "land of promise," but to rather tell of the actual conditions as found upon personal observation and careful investigation.

With the stage party on the Edmonton trail, every passenger who interrogated, every passenger who was the variety of stories told about Grande Prairie. Some people were deliberate knockers, but it is doubtful if they ever made a thorough investigation into the facts. One man with a twinkle in his eye deliberately told that it was that dry on Grande Prairie that when the ground was wet with an axe it would boom.

During the past three weeks, however, the weather has been showery, and in such cases the ground is growing as during the long days. The wheat and garden truck of all kinds are doing well. There is a feeling of happiness and contentment among the people.

Between the Hives and the Hills. North of the Watli River the Grande Prairie extends from the Peace River westward to the western boundary of Alberta. It covers about eleven township west of the Peace and about five townships north of the Watli. It is mostly an undulating prairie land, dotted with lakes.

The prairie drains southwards towards the Watli by means of Dead Horse Creek, Deep Creek, Five Mile Creek, Bear Creek, Spring Creek, Beaver Lodge River and Red Willow River, besides a few smaller creeks such as Canyon Creek and Flying Shot Creek. There are over a score of good-sized lakes, and among the most important lakes are Kienkan lake (draining through Kienkan river into the Smoky river), the Twin Lakes, Buffalo lake, Bear lake (about a mile long), Hermit lake, Spruce lake, Flying Shot lake and Saskatoon lake.

Bear river, Five creek and Flying Shot lake drain the northwest corner of Grande Prairie and flow into Bear lake. It is said that Bear river runs north of the Watli, which empties into Bear creek. The creek is larger than the river. Five creek drains the north part of Grande Prairie and flows into Bear lake. Beaver Lodge River and Red Willow River west ends and must be emptying into the Watli.

Between the creeks and lakes there are interesting ridges. Between Saskatoon lake and Beaver Lodge River is Saskatoon hill, south of the mountain, which can be seen from the Grande Prairie. South of Kienkan lake is Kienkan hill, which can be seen from many miles.

Well Watered and Well Drained. This land is very fertile and well drained. The pioneers have settled along the numerous creeks and lakes so as to have the time of digging wells. The

RECIPROCITY IS WINNING CARD IN SOUTH COUNTRY

HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN PART OF PROVINCE—HOLDING MEETING IN DR. CLARK'S INTERESTS—CALGARY LIBERALS IN FIGHTING TRIM.

"Reciprocity is the winning card in the whole south country," said the Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, for the province of Alberta, who returned to Edmonton this morning after spending nearly a week in the south.

Mr. Marshall, who is the only cabinet minister at present in the city, reports a meeting of the Liberal party on behalf of Dr. Michael Clark at Olds last night. About 400 people were present. Speeches were made by Dr. Clark and Mr. Marshall, and reciprocity was the chief theme of both. The speaker's exposition of the tariff policy of the Liberal party was received with great enthusiasm.

In Calgary, Mr. Marshall addressed two meetings, a meeting of Young Liberals on Tuesday evening and the Liberal nomination convention on Wednesday afternoon.

Calgary Liberals in Fighting Trim. The Liberals of Calgary are in a fighting trim and are absolutely confident that with Van Wier and reciprocity they will carry the day against any candidate the Conservatives can place in the field," said Mr. Marshall. It was at the nomination meeting on Wednesday afternoon that the results of the endorsement of the Hon. Frank Oliver were announced.

GRAS AGREEMENT IS A GOOD ONE SAYS DOWN

City Solicitor Declares Its Terms Are Not Restrictive—Thinks It Would Be Lower For City to Consider Undertaking Construction of Plant

"The gas agreement to be voted on on Monday contains many restrictions on any similar agreement in existence in Canada," said City Solicitor Brown (who is in the city on business) in his preparation of the agreement and several and myself had before us the other agreements under which private companies are operating in the various parts of the country. The city has absolute control over the construction and operation of the plant and the city has made an excellent bargain.

"Personally, I think it would be most unwise for the city to consider adding to its financial obligations by undertaking the establishment of another municipally owned public utility. The city has large sums of money tied up in the utilities which is operative at present, as well as in the construction of the city hospital and other similar institutions. To add further to the city's financial obligations in this connection would be a mistake."

I think, of necessity, that the municipality should consider the gas agreement as a business proposition, and should be conducted by private capital, particularly as the agreement secured with the company is an excellent one."

SIX HUNDRED FARMERS GATHER AT BIG PIONEER EDISON DELEGATION ACCOMPANIED BY BIG FLEET OF BENEFITS TO ACCRUE FROM RECIPROCITY.

An important stage in the progress of the construction of the branch line of the C.N.R. north from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing was celebrated by a picnic at Clyde on Thursday last. Several weeks ago it was announced that the line, which is being laid with the expedition which characterized all construction work of this company, would reach this settlement on July 1st.

There is no doubt of greater importance in the life of a western community than the entrance of the first road which links with the larger centers of life and industry, and brings the isolated which alone can make for growth. The most favorable climate and the richest soil are but so much hidden treasure until the arrival of the iron

RANCHER KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

ELL B. Proctor, of Lacombe District, Found Dead Under Overturned Car, Near His Home This Morning—Lacombe, Alta. Aug. 12.—Ell B. Proctor, one of the largest ranchers in the district, was found dead near his home this morning under his overturned automobile. The deceased left for his home about fifteen miles east, at 7:30 last evening and after a stop proceeded to his home after dark. The place where the accident happened is on a slight declivity with deep ditches along the sides, and the motorist, who was seated in that the steering gear went wrong.

He was well known among the stock men of the country and had a large cattle buying business in addition to farming several hundred acres of land. He leaves a wife and three young children. The coroner started for the scene of the accident this morning.

BUILDING PERMITS

Permits were issued from the office of the building inspector yesterday as follows:

Mrs. Bayless, home on Twenty-eighth street, $100.

J. Macdonald, addition to house on Twenty-fourth street, $100.

C. Butler, home on Avenue 18, south of Jasper, $100.

R. Kipling, shack on Kennedy st., $100.

Mr. Le Page, home on Twelfth st., $100.

stayed amidst settlement both possible and probable. Hence the excitement with which it is approached and the joy with which it is received.

It is almost nine years since the first settlers entered the district of which Clyde is the center. While addition to their number were not numerous until within the last year or two, these sturdy pioneers have been battling against the disadvantages of a life of comparative isolation and making a name for themselves in the west. During the last year, however, the settlement has increased rapidly and it was no more tardy of a rural store and post office, which was the center of the district, was to be added all the advantages of a town.

It was decided, therefore, to mark the occasion by a mammoth picnic, and a committee was organized under the chairmanship of H. W. Nickerson, the enterprising and popular postmaster and proprietor of the general store at Clyde.

MR. OLIVER REPUDIATES SO-CALLED LIBERAL CONVENTION OF AUGUST 16TH

Since arriving in the city on Thursday, Hon. Mr. Oliver has been engaged in arrangements for the coming election campaign. Seen by the Bulletin last evening he said:

"I have no intention of recognizing the so-called Liberal convention, to be held in the city on the 16th inst. The well-recognized method of calling nominating conventions in Alberta is under the authority of the provincial executive. Conventions have already been called in this manner for the selection of candidates for the contest in four out of the seven Alberta constituencies, and in two of them nominations have already been made. In due course, no doubt such a convention will be called for the Edmonton electoral district. When it is held I will be glad to submit my name as a candidate for nomination. In the meantime, I do not propose to pay any attention to a special arrangement made to secure endorsement for the candidature of any certain man, even though it be called a convention.

"I may say that I do not think the effort to defeat the Liberal cause in the Edmonton district by holding a bogus convention will succeed."

A Large Attendance. The weather during the day of the celebration was unfavorable, the heavy rains, which during the period of the celebration, were not only a hindrance to the expedition which characterized all construction work of this company, but also to the progress of the work.

Despite the fact, however, long before noon on Thursday settlers, some in automobiles, others in buggies or on horseback, began to arrive in Clyde from every direction, and when the celebration began, the grounds which had been prepared for the occasion by the erection of booths daily decorated with bunting and greenery. Conspicuous among the booths was that erected for the Ladies of the Church of England, where Mrs. Knott and her daughters dispensed refreshments to the warblers.

A delegation of settlers from Edison, six miles west from Clyde, attended the celebration, and the residents of Edison, as well as the farmers of the district, were present in large numbers. The celebration was a success, and the settlers were well pleased with the progress of the construction of the branch line.

It was decided, therefore, to mark the occasion by a mammoth picnic, and a committee was organized under the chairmanship of H. W. Nickerson, the enterprising and popular postmaster and proprietor of the general store at Clyde.

RURAL ONTARIO TURNS TOWARD RECIPROCITY

Liberals are Jubilant Over Way Things Have Turned—Conservative Farmers Breaking With Party on the Issue of Reciprocity.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11.—Both political parties have spent a busy week in lining up for the coming battle at the polls. Over one hundred nominating conventions have been held in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces, at which candidates were selected and the work of organization inaugurated. Reciprocity maintains its place as the dominant issue of the campaign.

While the proceedings to the present are essentially of a preparatory character, every incident is being keenly analyzed and discussed by the active political parties. The advantage of the first round is unmistakably with the Liberals. At four Ontario conventions prominent Conservative agriculturists have broken away from the party on the reciprocity issue and declared their support of the government candidates. This is regarded as indicative of the general sentiment of the rural districts.

Stress is shown how the wind is blowing and they claim rural Ontario will give up an unexpected majority for the reciprocity agreement. Another significant incident is the manifesto issued by Wm. Gorman, Liberal member for Welland, who bolted on reciprocity. Mr. Gorman was the only candidate who bolted on reciprocity. He is the only member of the province. Justice Court Liberals are pointing to the present member, John Tolmie, who is hurrying back from Scotland to get into the battle, as a sure victor, even if High Court resigns from the legislature to contest the seat with him. In the south riding of the same county it is predicted that the seat will be won by the Liberal candidate, Mr. MacKenzie King, who is hurrying back from Scotland to get into the battle, as a sure victor, even if High Court resigns from the legislature to contest the seat with him. WHOLE NATION HAS BEEN BORN DAVID LLOYD GEORGE ON TWO NOTABLE OCCASIONS SUCCESSIVELY. THE FIRST TIME WAS IN HIS FIGHT AGAINST INSURANCE BILL. AMENDMENT AND SECOND IN HIS SPEECH ON MOROCCAN CRISIS

London, August 12.—David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, has had, for him, a unique experience. On no less than two occasions recently he has had the unanimous support of the entire Press of the United Kingdom, the majority of which usually has few kind words to say of him, at least politically. It is all right fight against the insurance bill proposed by labor members, whereby the state would have had to assume the greater financial responsibility and the workers' contributions would have been correspondingly less, was hailed in the London papers as "a triumph for Lloyd George."

upon as a fighting politician, has forced recognition for himself as a sincere and serious statesman, his experience in this respect being much the same as John Horne, one time leader and strike promoter, who now commands the respect of men on both sides of politics.

The chancellor's personality has had much to do with his advance in favor with the more seriously minded of the fellow countrymen. As he has become better known among politicians, they have found him a most charming and interesting companion, who except when forced to fight, which he loves as well as any man, takes things quietly and graciously, and by good humor, backed by firmness, wins where another might make no headway. He is far from being a strong man physically, but as shown in his fight against the labor party in the insurance bill, he still has lots of fight left in him. This fighting quality also wins him many friends in England.

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes: "For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many diseases that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but none did me any good in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would ever help me but the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills."

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial. They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.

The Indian reserve on the south side has been abandoned. The remnant of the Indians and belongings were removed to Stony Plain reserves yesterday, with the exception of one man, who, having no eye for revenue to be derived from permits, to cut hay on the reserve, destined to go. The reserve will remain the property of the Indians and will be administered by the department for the benefit of the Indian race. The lands will not be then for settlement, but no doubt will be offered for sale at a future date.

THE MAN WITH A TOUPEE

Might Have Had a Good Head of Hair.

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and scurfiness. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now characteristically bald and wearing a toupee, but recalled earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair, would have saved it.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulation of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly. Newbury's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which will do this. It has long been known as the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ and is absolutely dependable.

So reliable is this preparation that all druggists now sell the one dollar size bottles of Herpicide with a binding guarantee to refund money if unsatisfactory. Herpicide applications may always be obtained at the better barber shops and hair-dressing parlors.

Anyone desiring to try Newbury's Herpicide before purchasing a large bottle will receive a nice sample and booklet by sending 10c in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. H, Detroit, Mich.

GRANDE PRAIRIE THE LAND OF PROMISE.

only well digested outfit here are of the Armstrong pattern, as to thoroughness has been made of the use of the fruit of securing well water away from the crops or lands. There are some dry creek-beds or hollows which could be dammed to make reservoirs of water secured from melted snow in the spring.

The soil of Grande Prairie is varied from the heaviest humus to a light sandy soil. In some places there is a black loam with a subsoil of chocolate clay. The topsoil varies from two inches to a foot. The soil varies within a short distance, as a new settler should personally select his land.

The wild growth shows the fertility of the soil. The grass varies from buffalo grass two inches high, to peavine as high as a man's head. Flowers are numerous and pretty. Crocus, violet, buttercup, lilac, golden rod, daisy, acorn, water lily, geranium, anemone, aster, are among the pretty wild flowers. Peavine, vetch, prairie clover, blue joint, red top and buffalo grass furnish good feed. Buds of roses of various shades of beauty literally carpet the ground in many places in midsummer. Honeyuckles and orchids are among the prettiest flowers found on the prairie.

The Small Fruits.

Strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, blueberries, huckleberries, low and high bush cranberries, dewberries, red and black currants, Saskatoon, etc., choke and black cherries are among the small fruits growing wild on the prairie.

In the bluffs are willow-red, gray and soft, white poplar and balsam of Canada, birch, jackpine, lamarque and spruce. The green bluffs give a picturesque line of picturesqueness to the scene of undulating prairie.

There are no gophers or badgers and only a few coyotes and an odd timber wolf. There are no snakes except a few harmless garter snakes. Prairie chickens, blue grouse, partridge, ducks, goose and swans are to be found. In the creeks there are suckers, trout and jackfish. Bear lake also has fish. Around the edges of the settlements there are lots of muskrats and long and a few elk and caribou. But wild man naturally becomes scarcer as the settlement thickens. A few beaver are still to be found.

But Roads Have the Advantage. The population of all the settlements of Grande Prairie is roughly estimated at about a thousand people, of which 500 are men and the balance women and children.

The trails over which the pioneers have had to travel to Grande Prairie are each and all fraught with hardship and difficulty. This fact has had an influence in lifting the flood of incoming settlers. The weak and the faint-hearted ones have stopped on the way. Those strong in faith, pluck and perseverance in overcoming difficulties have pushed on and thus the settlement of Grande Prairie is well qualified to make its mark in the history of the west.

Recently the settlers gathered for three days' celebration, leaving their homes and camping at the grounds where the sports were held. There are only two policemen for a tremendous large district. They were at the sports, but so, arrests were made. There was no drunkenness and no disorder of any kind. It was like a quiet, orderly family party. The deserted farms were unattended. Each settler seldom, if ever, locks their doors.

Between the Smoky river and the mountains and south of the Peace river there are only two policemen. There is an guard room and when a prisoner is sentenced, he has to be taken all the way to Lesser Slave Lake, a ten days' journey. Eastern trails will lead all sorts to come to settle in Grande Prairie. A large population may bring the public sale of immigrants will more resultant disaster and a need for a larger police force.

As Old Camping Ground.

The grounds upon which the sports were held at Saskatoon lake is one of the oldest camping grounds on Grande Prairie. Late in the fall of 1908, the Hudson's Bay Company's first settler, Father Nant, came here to settle in the country. At that time the old Hudson's Bay shanty was about 15 miles to the northwest of Saskatoon lake.

The main trail to the mountains then led southwest from Saskatoon lake. Late in the fall of 1908, the Hudson's Bay trading post was closed. He had a herd of about fifty horses. Those that could be found were taken out to the mouth of the McLeod and sold. Some strays were not found and from these have increased a bunch of wild horses more than the original herd. Those wild horses have been purchased by L. H. Adair, but many are still running wild on the open prairie.

Society of Pioneers.

Social life on Grande Prairie is of the pioneer type. The half-breeds, those early pioneers whose ancestors were native Canadians, have their ties, parties and social functions and take great pleasure in visiting back and forth among their friends and numerous relations.

The agriculturists who first located on Grande Prairie were living in a scattered settlement as the settlement was then, being too busy on their farms. The thickening of settlement, the coming of the clergy and the holding of religious services encourages social intercourse, but still the annual celebration is the chief social event. Then the young ladies and the maidens are able to gather in groups and enjoy the holiday in chat with neighbors from the other end of the prairie. Social calls are made from tent to tent.

The Women's Work.

On the homesteads the wives and daughters are loyally helping their husbands, fathers or brothers, and doing their share of the multitude of tasks incident to starting a home in a new land. The work of carding is frequently taken up by the ladies, who enjoy the simple outdoor life, while the men are busy breaking more new ground. The work of hattermaking and poultry raising here, as elsewhere, is taken up by the women, but as yet butter and eggs are very scarce.

Life in a tent, a saloon of a small shack brings problems of housekeeping quite different to that of a city life in a house with all modern conveniences, just the women seem just as healthy and say that they enjoy the change. They find that furniture often considered indispensable in a city is absent in the tent. A dressing table or a cupboard made from a box is shown to a visitor with as much ease as a cabinet in the luxurious city house.

When the cook finds some ingredients of exhausted, it is quite impossible to phone to the corner grocery. Settlers have in the past generally brought in their year's supply in the winter over the long overland trail from Edmonton. If an influential settler has been brought of any item, it may be possible to buy at the trading post or stores, but the great influx of new settlers is severely taxing their stock of merchandise.

Neighborhood of a New Land. Neighboring is a neighborly term which other out of many difficulties by lending machinery or exchanging work. In case of sickness of either animals or people the neighbors do not begrudge of either their time or

Social visits are infrequent because the men and women of the farmers are busy in the fields, but when the men do make a business trip to a neighbor, they often go alone. The back-slope, having less home then, often visit around among the homes and find an excuse to call and see somebody's brother or father and get a chance to taste cooking more delicious than their own.

The dancing platform at the picnic grounds permitted the young folk to get still better acquainted. An occasional surprise party is held in the winter. But in the past winter season the settlement has been rather sparse and so many were absent on the long two month trip to Edmonton for supplies that parties and dances have been rare. In one corner of the settlement, however, rural social activities have been held.

Funerals have been rare, for it is a healthy district and there are very few white settlers over 50 years of age. Weddings have not been numerous. One was a romance of the trail and others were but sequel of a courtship elsewhere. There have been no white weddings resulting from friendship originating on the Grande Prairie. The settlement is too new yet.

Four Religious Denominations.

Eleven years ago the Roman Catholic church had a mission at Saskatoon Lake in charge of Rev. Father Le-tre. Four years ago the mission was moved to Bear Creek, where a log church was built. The mission building at Saskatoon Lake was taken down and the log building at Bear Creek, where they were set up again and the building is now used as a residence for Rev. Father Alac and his assistant, Rev. Father Nant. Services are held every Sunday morning and afternoon in Cree. Some of the new white settlers are Roman Catholic. Five years ago, including Beavers and Cree, there was a congregation of about 150, but now there are only about 150. Many natives had moved away to the Rocky mountains.

visit which resulted in their return in the spring of 1910 to organize Presbyterian mission work on Grande Prairie. Services are held at Bear Creek near the township of Grande Prairie. A church building has already been started at Grande Prairie City and sites procured at other points on the Grande Prairie.

Owing to the need and importance of hospital work in connection with this mission work, the Ladies Home Missionary society of the Presbyterian church at Edmonton sent Miss A. Fairbairn, a graduate nurse, to undertake the nursing work of the Grande Prairie mission. A number of patients have been successfully treated at their homes and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forbes. At first Mr. Forbes lived at Elgin-Hill Lake, but this has since moved to near Grande Prairie, P. O.

The Methodist mission work on Grande Prairie is in charge of Rev. L. P. Hopkins, assisted by Rev. Andrew Taylor and Rev. Chas. H. Hovvies are held at Saskatoon Lake, Upper and Lower Beaver Lodge, Red Willow and at other points. Two churches are under way. A very flourishing Sunday school is held at Beaver Lodge under the superintendence of Clarence Pool. The headquarters of the Methodist mission is at the premises on the edge of Saskatoon Lake, in a pretty building. The mission buildings have been erected by the carpenter preachers.

The work of all the Protestant missionaries is laid out in provident dispensing and harmony and good fellowship prevail among the various denominations. All joined heartily in the grand union open air mass meeting held on the sports ground on the Sunday evening preceding the three days celebration.

A start has been made in the establishment of several public school districts. Another year will see schools in operation in all the settled parts of the Grande Prairie.

MONARCH KNIT

the comfiest coat you can wear in the cool of the evening on the water.

MONARCH KNIT is justly the vogue. Because of intrinsic merit and apparent style, fit and shape. Most woolen coats and sweaters are knit in sections and sewn together. The shape is a chance—the style not even a good guess, and there's no surety of the lastingness of either. It's different—a good deal different with "Monarch Knit".

Tell your merchant that you want a "Monarch Knit" coat. You'll certainly buy more "Monarch Knit" goods.
